ONE-word ratings used by school regulator Ofsted have been scrapped.

Teachers and parents have welcomed Labour's decision, which is being announced today.

Inspectors will instead give grades in four existing categories: quality of education, behaviour and attitudes, personal development, and leadership and management.

It paves the way for report cards, which will be introduced from September 2025 and are designed to give parents a full picture of how schools are doing.

Paul Whiteman, general secretary of the National Association of Head Teachers, said: "Simplistic one-word judgments are harmful and we are pleased the government has taken swift action to remove them."

There have been growing tensions between Ofsted and schools since headteacher Ruth Perry, 53, took her own life in 2023 while waiting for the publication of an Ofsted report that downgraded her school in Reading, Berks, to "inadequate".

An inquest concluded the inspection contributed to her death.

Her sister, Professor Julia Waters, has welcomed the Ofsted changes. She said: "Singleword judgments are just the most visible feature of a fundamentally flawed inspection system. Ofsted's reign of terror has

Parents deserve a much clearer, broader picture of how schools are performing - that's what our report cards will provide." Jason Elsom, chief of charity Parentkind, said mums and dads had called for changes to the rating system, adding: "It is welcome to see a clear timetable being set out for moving towards a report card that will give parents greater clarity of the performance of [schools]."

From 2025, Labour will also introduce regional improvement teams to work with struggling schools. Ofsted declined to comment.

BLOW Pensioners will be hit

'Run on £ risk if winter fuel cash stayed'

A LABOUR minister yesterday defended cutting pensioners' winter fuel payments as she said the UK risked an economic crash if they did not.

The government faces pressure over the decision to means-test the payments, which are worth up to £300 to millions of pensioners.

Commons Leader Lucy Powell said there was "no alternative" after Labour inherited a £22billion black hole in the public finances.

She told Times Radio: "We could have seen a run on the pound, interest rates up and crashing the economy. We were left with no alternative."

All kids have a bé safe

By Patrick

AS schools reopen, these shocking figures remind us of the need for vigilance in dealing with racism, prejudice and hatred.

Every child has a right to be safe in their school environment, and that means they should not be subject to racist behaviour including verbal abuse, bullying or threats.

Parents should not be left feeling anxious that their children will be subject to abuse when they are going to and from school or when they enter the school gates.

After the shocking events in towns and cities this summer, it is vital parents, pupils and school staff are provided reassurance by the government that all appropriate action is being taken to keep schools safe for everyone.

ROBUST

There will be many families of all faiths and backgrounds who will be especially anxious for their children's safety at this time, and we are asking the government to make school security a top priority.

Wherever racism exists. wherever the conditions exist which enable racism to flourish, we must be ready to act and to call it out.

The government must do everything it can to support teachers in taking a robust stance against racism.

We need to start a national conversation on the steps needed to build community cohesion, tackle racial hatred and keep our children safe, secure and able to thrive.

EXCLUSIVE BY SASKIA ROWLANDS and MATTHEW DAVIS

THOUSANDS of pupils, some as young as four, were sent home for racism last year.

With schools reopening this week, campaigners want action to stem the tide of hatred in classrooms, amid fears bigotry has become "normalised".

They say impressionable youngsters are repeating in the classroom what they hear from their parents and from right-wing figures in the media.

In all, 11.619 children were suspended for racist behaviour in 2023 - up 25% on the previous 12 months, and equivalent to almost 60 suspensions a day.

Shockingly, 1,413 were still at primary school, with seven incidents logged against kids as young as four.

Dr Shabna Begum, who heads racism think-tank the Runnymede Trust, said: "The fact that children and young people are picking up and articulating racism in schools feels entirely predictable in this current climate.

"Recent years have seen media and politicians legitimise hateful language and violent policy that would once have been scorned.

"Children are reflecting the hatred that has become a normalised feature of our political conversation."

Daniel Kebede, general secretary of the National Education Union, added: "These figures should be a wake-up call. We have had years now of divisive, hateful language and negative, racist stereotypes from some politicians and in sections of the media.

"Their irresponsibility has helped create a climate where the social cohesion of this country is threatened.

"The government is about to review the school curriculum in England - this review should consider how we build an anti-racist curriculum."

AN aunt of a girl who died in the Grenfell Tower fire has said she will not accept justice has been done until people are behind bars.

Sandra Ruiz's niece Jessica Urbano Ramirez, 12, was among the 72 people killed when a fire ripped through the West London block of flats in 2017.

With the second and final report on the disaster due to be published by the Grenfell Tower Inquiry on Wednesday, she said: "Our lives were shattered on that night, people need to be held accountable. They know what part they played. The inquiry knows what part they played.

"The police know what part they played. Now they just need to take some action. People who have made decisions putting profit above people's safety need to be behind bars."

The inquiry heard in 2018 that Jessica begged firefighters to come faster in a 999 call as the blaze engulfed the building.

The schoolgirl, who was waiting to be rescued with a group of people on the top floor, repeatedly asked London Fire Brigade control room officer Sarah Russell: "Please can you hurry up?"

The call lasted nearly an hour before Ms Russell ended it when the line went silent.

LEGACY

Commons Leader Lucy
Powell reassured families that the inquiry's findings will be taken "incredibly seriously" by the government. She said: "We want to see the truth of what happened and lessons learned."

Deputy Prime Minister Appened

Deputy Prime Minister Angela Rayner will be tasked with responding to the report.

Since it was set up in 2017, the Grenfell Tower Inquiry has held more than 300 public hearings, received more than 1,600 witness statements and disclosed more than 320,000 documents to core participants.

Chairman Sir Martin Moore-Bick's final report is expected to lay bare findings on the actions of corporate firms in the construction industry, the local authority, London Fire Brigade and the government.

Former tower resident and Grenfell United member Edward Daffarn escaped from his 16th floor flat and had previously raised concerns about a fire risk.

Mr Daffarn said he hopes the report will "highlight the institutionalised indifference that saw private companies put profit before people" and "create a legacy" that will stay "at the forefront" of the minds of anyone working in those areas.

Those found guilty of wrongdoing may not face justice until as late as 2027. The Metropolitan Police, which is undertaking a criminal investigation, is not due to reach its conclusion until the end of 2025. Prosecutors will then need a year to decide whether charges can be brought.

Mr Daffarn said: "This report needs to be the catalyst for significant Justice for Grenfell? Not until those who put profit before people are in jail movement forward from the Met Police in bringing charges."

A total of 58 individuals and 19 companies and organisations are under investigation for potential criminal offences, and more than 300 hours of interviews have taken place.

Potential offences being considered include corporate manslaughter, gross negligence manslaughter, perverting the course of justice, misconduct in public office, health and s a f e t y of fences, fraud, and fire safety and building regulations offences.

Dame Judith Hackitt, who chaired Review of

QUESTIONS
BE ANSWERED

The second phase of the inquiry examined how a kitchen fire in a flat spread around Grenfell Tower so rapidly. Its report will reveal its conclusions on four key areas...

1Why and how it was decided to fit "a highly combustible cladding system on a high-rise residential building".

2What were the regulations and guidance given to the construction industry, the testing of materials and whether fire doors, windows and lifts contributed to risks.

3 The actions of London Fire Brigade, including its preparations for fighting fires in high-rise blocks of flats.

4 Whether warnings from residents were ignored in the lead-up to the disaster, as well as whether adequate support was provided by the authorities after the fire.

MP fires his agent over 'mouldy flats'

The BBC found black mould, dirty communal areas, fire alarms hanging loose and ant infestations.

Mr Athwal admitted some flats may not have licences required under a scheme he introduced, says the BBC.

LUCKY for some... Strictly contestant Nick Knowles holds a number one and a number three to show 13 days till the start of the show, which is now confirmed as September 14.

For the first time in four years, there will be no same-sex pairings in the ballroom dance contest and there are nine male competitors to just six females.

The decision to have only malefemale pairings for 2024 comes after West End performer Layton Williams. 29, last year reached the final with his pro partner Nikita Kuzmin, 26 - the furthest a same-sex partnership had got in the show.

One source told the Mail on Sunday the BBC wanted to be "inclusive and progressive" but some executives felt not everyone" liked same-sex pairings.

It has also been reported that popular pro Kai Widdrington, 29, will remain as a dancer for the group numbers but will not have his own celebrity partner.

Love Island's Tasha Ghouri, 26, is the bookies' current favourite to win.

She has a dance background and is rumoured to be partnered with returning favourite Aljaz Skorjanec, 34.

Despite not having seen any of the stars dance, the bookies are offering odds of 3/1 on Tasha lifting the Glitterball.

Ladbrokes have SNUBBED Kal put EastEnders actor Widdrington Jamie Borthwick, 30, as second favourite at 4/1 with comic Chris McCausland, 47, at 16/1.

The outsiders in the competition are currently TV doctor Punam Krishan and opera singer Wynne "Go Compare" Evans, who are both at 33/1.

However, all this is likely to change when the stars perform their first group number on September 14.

The launch show will also feature a routine celebrating the return of pro dancer Amy Dowden, 34, following her breast cancer treatment.

The show is running a countdown to the start on social media, with celebrity contestants holding up paddles showing the number of days to go. It began with Towie's Pete Wicks, 36, holding a one and a five, and the words: "There are only 15 days till Pete puts the tan in Tango."

Pete is close friends with last year's contestant Zara McDermott, 27. Speaking on the podcast he does with Zara's boyfriend Sam Thompson, Pete said he went on Strictly because he was "semi-forced" by his management.

But after a try-out, he had caught the dancing bug. He said. "I did the taster and I loved it. I genuinely loved it."

VOICE OF THE

MICHON Teach kids

tolerance

SCHOOLS should be places where children learn in a friendly and safe space.

So it is deeply troubling that an increasing number of pupils are suffering discrimination and abuse in the classroom or playground.

A Freedom of Information request by the Mirror reveals that nearly 60 children a day are being sent home for racist behaviour.

Many will be repeating language and opinions picked up from home.

But the responsibility of teaching children to treat others with respect does not lie just with parents and guardians.

Young people will also be reflecting the hatred and racism which is rife on social media and too often features in political debate.

This summer's riots were a reminder that more needs to be done to promote tolerance and understanding. That duty falls on parents, teachers, tech firms and politicians.

Time for truth

SEVEN years ago 72 people lost their lives in the Grenfell fire tragedy.

This week the final report into what happened will be published.

Survivors and families of victims have waited too long for this and too long for justice. Despite significant loss of life, not a single MPs yesterday accused concert ticket sellers of fleecing Oasis fans after many had to pay more than double the advertised cost.

Tens of thousands queued online for hours from 9am on Saturday only to be told "dynamic pricing" meant they had to lay out £355 or more instead of £158.

Dynamic pricing is when a seller does not set a fixed price and adjusts charges in response to demand.

Glitches also kicked fans off booking sites after they got through.

David Baines, Labour MP for St. Helens North, said: "After rightly criticising those who got presale tickets and then immediately tried to resell them for huge profits, it's shocking to hear Ticketmaster UK is using dynamic pricing to fleece fans and rake in the cash. Especially insulting million tickets were sold for the shows in Manchester, Cardiff, London, Edinburgh and Dublin.

Just after 7pm, Oasis and Ticketmaster announced it was a sell-out.

Resale websites then began asking between £537 to as much as £14,104.

Oasis, whose hits include Rock 'n' Roll Star, last week announced 17 gigs in the UK and Ireland next summer, 15 years after splitting when Noel and Liam Gallagher had a backstage brawl in Paris. Cabinet minister Lucy Powell said she was not sure how clear the pricing was after managing to bag herself two tickets for £350 each.

VOICE OF THE MIRROR: P8

ADVERTISING FEATURE 'Cutting out toothpaste seemed ike the ont

Around 4.2 million people in the UK are living in hygiene poverty*, strug-gling to afford everyday essentials such as toothbrushes and toothpaste.

The rising cost of living has meant that, for many families, basic items have had to be sacrificed as they stretch their budgets to pay bills and buy food.

For Liza, having to let her two children go without toothpaste made her feel like a failure.

"I felt I was letting them down, not being able to provide them with something so basic," she says, "but the cost of everything kept going up and up, and even though I was working, my wages never seemed to be enough."

Liza, 34, began struggling financially last year when her circumstances changed and she found herself bringing up her two daughters, aged five and 10, alone.

"I've always tried to give the children a healthy diet, so even when money was tight, I made sure they had fresh fruit and vegetables, and I'd batch cook meals to keep the costs down," she explains.

"But I'd get to the till and wonder how I would make the food I'd bought last a week.

"Then one week it got to point where not buytoothpaste seemed like the only way to save some resort. "When we ran out of the toothpaste we had. I told the kids I'd forgotten money. It felt wrong, but it was a last to buy it.

/##EEEEEEEEEE

Then the next week I made up another excuse. I couldn't tell them the real reason."

AS ORAL HYGIENE POVERTY RISES, ONE MUM SHARES

HER HEARTBREAK AT MAKING DIFFICULT CHOICES

Liza says she didn't just feel guilty: she also worried about the impact it might have on her girls.

I thought they might feel self-conscious if their teeth started to get worse or their breath smelled. At night and in the mornings I'd get them to rinse their mouths with water to freshen them up.

"I didn't want them to get out of that routine they'd had since they were little, and I found myself trying to check when I gave them a kiss. I couldn't bear the thought of them being made fun of for something that felt like my fault."

Liza is not alone, according to a new report by grassroots charity The Hygiene Bank*.

While good oral health can help boost children's ability to learn, thrive and develop, three in 10 parents experiencing hygiene poverty say the choice of dental care products used by their children has been affected due to financial pressures.

Children's dentist and Colgate ambassador Dr Julia Hurry says, "I've seen families with multiple children who are sharing one toothbrush between them. In some areas of England almost one in two five-year-olds have obvious holes in their teeth. With reduced access to basic toothbrushing tools, this is likely to get even higher."

"Most of us take having toothpaste and toothbrushes for granted," Liza adds. "It seems like such a little thing, but when you can't afford those items, it's huge."

Harry's 'advice from old pals as he plots return to royal duties'

BY JEREMY ARMSTRONG

PRINCE Harry has been asking former aides for advice about resuming his royal duties in a bid to end his exile in the US, it has been claimed

Sources say he may spend more time in Britain to repair his relationship with the King, with a view to a partial return to the fold.

A source reportedly said: "Harry is turning away from all sorts of Hollywood publicists and is OUT IN THE COLD Prince Harry

A message from the editor...

Dear readers,

As kids head back to school, many parents will admit to giving up a few family luxuries this summer, thanks to the ongoing cost of living crisis.

But for some, those "luxuries" include basic dental products, like toothbrushes and toothpaste.

For children who can't brush their teeth before school, it's not just their appearance or breath that is affected; it will have a knock-on effect on their confidence and diminish their ability to learn, thrive and develop.

And the risk of tooth decay or gum disease could make things even harder in the future.

It's a devastating decision no parent should have to make, so once again we've partnered with Boots to support its campaign with The Hygiene Bank. This time, in partnership with Colgate, the focus is on getting dental products to the children who need them most.

Boots Is donating 175,000 toothbrushes and toothpastes to the charity, and we're encouraging you to do the same.

Products donated to The Hygiene Bank via drop-off points in 500 Boots stores will be distributed to struggling families in the most deprived areas in the country.

FORMER Premier League star Sol Bamba has been hailed for his strength and courage after he died aged 39 following a cancer fight.

The popular former Cardiff City, Leeds, Leicester and Ivory Coast defender was diagnosed with non-Hodgkin lymphoma in 2021

He fought off the disease and returned to playing that same year but fell ill again and died on Saturday.

Wife Chloe said: "I have watched Sol fight his cancer head-on with an astounding mental and physical strength and stoicism.

"Unfortunately, it was never a fair fight. Just when things were looking up, he took a downturn and finally succumbed.

"These years have been indescribably d.fficult but we still managed to find joy and laughter. I've experienced my worst days but also some of my best.

"Sol accepted his fate as God's will and left this earth knowing, without a shadow of a doubt, that he was loved I made sure of that." Bamba was born in France to Ivonan n autism diagnosis can be life-changing, helping a neurodivergent child understand why they struggle with aspects of school, friendship and their home life. While, for adults it can provide a huge sense of relief and insight into years of burnout, sensory overload and meltdowns.

Yet waiting lists for autism diagnoses are soaring with a staggering 187,000 people waiting for an NHS assessment in England - a 22 per cent increase on last year

But these delays in diagnosis can mean a life of difficulty for people with autism, like TV personality Christine McGuinness, who has spoken about her own diagnosis at 33 saving it helped her to understand "why I am the way Fam

TV and radio presenter Melanie Sykes also described her relief at discovering she was autistic at the age

"I am wired a completely different way and I'm only just understanding it." she said recently

"Where I used to think 'what's wrong with me? Now I know it's everything that's right with me."

'An autism assessment can be the first step to understanding people's needs and although they shouldn't be people are often told they can't get support without a diagnosis, she says.

The British Medica: Association estimates that 700,000 people in the UK have a diagnosis of autism, with one in 100 being candren

But there are many more out there, of all ages, who are undragnosed

We spoke to three people who were only assessed as adults, all of whom say they wish it had happened sooner

I KNEW SOMETHING

Science journalist Sue Nelson, 63, who lives with her husband in Hertfordshire, was 60 when she was finally diagnosed as autistic

The doctor told me at the time I was the oidest person he'd ever met with that belated diagnosis," says Sue.

It was during the pandemic, while spending days at home that things finally came to a head. A successful broadcaster with a physics degree, she says her sensory processing issues became unbearably acute.

"I'm very sensitive to sounds. There was a shower fan I could hear through the wall of the bedroom, and it hurt my ears. At one point it made me cry and lie on the bed in a foetal position.

"All my sensitivities went crazy. I was worse in daylight. The sun was too bright and I was wearing sunglasses all the time,

Cataract surgery

What is it?

Cataracts make the lenses in our eyes cloudy, making vision biurry. They're almost inevitable with age and are small crystal opacities that form in the lens. You can have a cloudy lens inside your eye removed and an artificial one inserted with very simple surgery, even while you're awake.

After assessment, a specialist eye doctor (ophthalmologist) will discuss whether you'd like near sight or long sight, the risks and benefits of surgery, if you'll need glasses after surgery, and how long you'll take to fully recover.

The operation

Under local anaesthetic, cataract surgery usually takes 30 to 45 minutes as a day patient. The surgeon makes a tiny cut in your eye to remove the cloudy lens and replace it with a clear plastic one.

Both eyes can be treated on the same day or a few weeks apart.

Post op

At home you'll wear a pad and plastic shield over your eye for 24 hours.

Feeling should start to return to your eye within a few hours, but it may take a few days for your vision to return fully. You may experience grittiness of the eye, watering, blurred vision, double vision, and a red or bloodshot eye which usually gets better within days. If you need new glasses, you'll get them after your eye has completely healed.

Before you leave hospital, you'll be given eye drops to help your eye heal and prevent infection.

Saving lives spotting heart failure in females faster

Il the initial research on heart disease was done on men. It took a long time for women to catch up. This latest research from East Anglia University is a further catch up, helping to diagnose heart failure in women – meaning more female patients can be treated at an earlier stage

Research teams from the Universities of East Anglia (UEA), Sheffield and Leeds, have fine-tuned how MRI scans (magnetic resonance imaging) can be used to detect heart failure in women's hearts, making it more accurate

This result in 16.5% more diagnoses
"This improved method will increase early detection, meaning more women can get life-saving treatment sooner," says lead author
Dr Pankaj Garg of UEA.

"This could have huge impact in the NHS, which diagnoses around 200,000 patients with heart failure each year."

When a heart starts to fail, it is unable to pump blood out effectively, and so the pressure in the heart rises. So one of the best ways of diagnosing heart failure is to measure pressures inside the heart with a tube called a catheter, its accurate but carries a risk.

So doctors use echocardiograms, based on ultrasound, to assess heart function, though they are maccurate in up to 50% of cases.

MRI is much more accurate but not quite accurate enough to diagnose heart failure in women, especially in early or borderline disease

According to co-author Professor Andy Swift of Sheffield's School of Medicine: "Women's hearts are biologically different to men's.

Our work suggests that in heart failure, women's hearts may respond differently in response to increases in pressure."

Heart failure is classed differently, depending on the amount of blood pumped out of the main chamber of the heart with every beat, known as the heart's ejection fraction.

Women suffer disproportionately from a type of heart failure where the pumping function of the heart is preserved but the ability of the heart to relax between beats and fill with blood is impaired.

Co-author Dr Peter Swoboda, of Leeds

Faculty of Medicine, said "This research will help diagnose heart failure in women more quickly and get them established on life-saving treatments sooner."

Experts agree this research is very positive because it paves the way for thousands of people to get diagnosed and treated at an earlier stage For some time the Women's Health Strategy for England has been asking for more research that looks at the differences between how conditions affect men and women

About time that the inadequacies between genders is corrected.

Ask Dr Miriam

e i'm putting on a lot of weight and i've always been a bad sleeper. I've heard that poor sleep can lead to piling on the pounds. Is that true?

Yes, it is. Sleep and appetite are connected. We've known for some time that getting a good night's sleep of around seven hours helps to control our weight.

This is because sound sleep regulates two hormones integral to hunger and appetite leptin and ghrelin. Ghrelin makes you feel hungry and leptin makes you feel full. Poor sleep can raise ghrelin levels and increase the number of calories you consume. There's a recent study that demonstrates this.

For the study, 80

overweight adults (BMI 25-30) who slept less than 6.5 hours a night
got individualised sleep counselling or nothing at all as a control, then two weeks

of sleep monitoring.
The more they slept, the less they ate. Sleep duration increased by around 1.2 hours in the intervention group compared to the control group and food intake fell by 270 calories a day.

There you have it.

WHAT IS IT?

Ramsay Hunt syndrome Ramsay Hunt syndrome (RHS) is a cause of facial paralysis, where the nerve that supplies the muscles in the face stops working property.

It's caused by the shingles virus (varicella zoster), and can potentially happen to anyone who has had chicken pox. The face becomes paralysed and sometimes the whole of one side of the face can't move.

THE TOWER ITVI, 9pm

GRITTY, hard-hitting and very timely, The Tower returns for a third series.

It starts with the late-night stabbing of a teenage boy. As the 15-year-old bleeds to death, his friend screams for help - neither of them has a phone

An off-duty paramedic does what he can, but can't stop the bleeding. He then rounds on our heroine, DS Sarah Collins (Gemma Whelan): "I told him 'you're gonna be OK'. When are you going to stop this?"

The series taps straight into the issue of knife crime on our streets.

In another scene, news on a radio blares: "This is the 14th fatal stabbing this year amid a rising tide of gang violence. Why are the police so helpless to stop it?"

COVERT

There's another case where a young lad is arrested on suspicion of assault after punching someone at a shopping mall and hospitalising him.

Everything is linked and there's something much bigger going on

As huge pressure and dissatisfaction with the police grows, Collins is determined to crack the case. But why is no one giving her any information?

Her investigation soon finds stself at cross purposes with a covert operation led by Kieran Shaw (Emmett J Scanlan), who is working with Sarah's old partner, Steve Bradshaw (Jimmy Akingbola), now deep undercover

Meanwhile Lizzie Adama (Tabirah Sharif), is back at Farlow trying to balance her new role as a detective with family life. Her path and Kieran's are about to cross

MATT BAKER: TRAVELS. with mum & dad

More 4, 9pm

Matt's mum Janice is giving Stanley the cockerel a blowdry. He is getting spruced up for the Northumberland County Show and needs to look his best.

Meanwhile, Matt's dad Mike squeezes the newest member of their family, puppy Archie, into the back seat, who will now come along for the ride.

The premise of this show is Matt joins his parents, who have barely ever left their Durham hill farm due to farming demands, to go on excursions close to home.

Matt has secured the keys to world-class landmarks on their doorstep, all revealing the secrets of their beloved North East.

The best bits are when they're driving along with Janice offering random snacks from the back seat.

"Extra Strong Mint, anyone?"

This time they head to the Northumberland County Show -North East England's biggest annual celebration of all things countryside - going behind the scenes and helping prep some of the award-winning animals.

CAN WE LIVE WITHOUT: OUR PHONES?

BBCI, 8pm

We've all thought about it - and possibly shudder at the prospect... but imagine life without our phones.

Smartphones are fast becoming our lifelines, with access to our banking, credit cards, shopping, emails, contacts. not to mention our social lives and unlimited time-eating nonsense.

But being permanently attached to a smartphone, addicted to a device, is not good - and certainly not for kids.

So what happens when they are taken away from children for a whole week? With the help of two families and ots of remote cameras. Panorama finds out here

Does having their phones taken away mean they talk to their parents more and sleep better, or are they missing out. on vital conversations with friends and the chance to discover something new?

With calls for smartphones to be banned for children, journalist Marianna Spring speaks to parents, teenagers and social med a company insiders to nvestigate whether the content pushed to their feeds is harming them.

This is one experiment you may wish to try at home

at Charing Crematerium. SAFE AND GUARANTEE FUNERAL PL

FROM THE UK'S LEADING DIRECT CREMATION PROVIDER

Distinct Cremations have realised something rather important: that not everyone wants a traditional funeral. So why pay over £4,0001 for something you don't want, when there is an alternative that still delivers a high quality service -Just without the hefty price.

With Distinct Cremations, every single one of their simple and affordable cremations are carried out with compassion and care from start to finish.

With their own state-of-the-art mortuary facilities and over 40 crematoriums across the UK. each and every funeral service is delivered by caring, dedicated professionals with many years of experience and expertise. But how is this so affordable? Well, they provide a service that only includes the important things you really need. That includes all essential funeral director services. necessary transportation, a decent coffin, a respectful cremation at one of their crematoriums and ashes personally delivered back to the family within 14 days.

Their unattended cremation funeral plan, which guarantees all the included services, is available for just £1,699.

Funerals tailored to you, not tradition

If a service at the crematorium is important - that can be included too. There are options for small intimate gatherings for just a few close family members, or you can arrange a full celebrant-led service for many people to attend. The main difference is there is no hearse or limousines to the crematorium, which is one way that money is saved.

In fact, Distinct funeral plans that include a service start from just £2,099 - a significant saving compared to traditional funerals.

Cook, TV Presenter

ed by Distinct

Safe and Guaranteed

Planning your funeral ahead of time is a deeply thoughtful decision and commitment to protect those you love. Not only are you ensuring your funeral preferences are known, but you are relieving both the emotional and financial strain on your family during a challenging time.

I think this photo of my sister and I was taken at Thornwick Bay holiday camp. My early memories of holidays are there in the early 1950s in the caravan, which had a hissing gas supply for cooking and lighting There was no fridge or TV, and we had an outside toilet. How on earth Mam and Dad managed our holidays I can only guess. Did they do without themselves because we never went short as kids?

Act now to ban trophy hunting

Anvone who gets their kicks from slaughtering endangered animals and then gloating about it. like big game hunter Cameron Hopkins, is beneath contempt. We. need to ban bringing hunting tropmes into Britain immediately

However, until we stop perse cuting our own wild animals, hut the podution of our rivers, land and air, and reverse the destruction of our natural spaces and habitats, we are in no place to criticise what happens in other countries.

Every year, millions of game birds and wild fowl are slaughtered in Britain and so-called pest control by gamekeepers is a significant element in Britains own biodiversity crisis.

Brett Grainger, Rugeley, Staffs

III t sickened me to read of the despicable hunter Cameron Hopkins who boasted about shooting endangered animals dead in the wild. These people obviously have no teelings of compassion for their prev and treat them as merely participants in their sport. Will our newly elected government do the right thing and ban the import of hunt by trophies?

Michael Smith, Chatham, Kent

Kalang any anamal for fun is absolutely disgusting and the new Labour government really needs to take a stand and ban hunters from bringing their hunting trophies back here.

Animas are quickly disappearing because of the actions of humans so it's about time that we ali say enough as enough!

seem to think there's nothing being pictured next to the animals wrong in slaughtering these beau- he has shot. Bragging about his tital animals and should be kills, he has no moral compass. He published for these cowardly acts.

These animals will be extinct before long and all because these of killing them. Eduardo Goncalves from the Campaign to Ban Trophy Hunting was correct when he said that Britain should "hang its head in shame" and a ban on hunting trophies needs to be put in place John Harris, Warrington, Cheshire

■ Before these animals are wiped out completely something needs to be done to outlaw these barbaric acts. I was appalled to read that Brita n adows hunters to bring stipid trophy hunters back their kill to put out on display

This should not be allowed to happen anymore. It would send a clear signal that the UK does not condone trophy hunting. So hurry up Keir Starmer and sort this out. Steven Wallis, York even boasts about doing it again What is wrong with these people?

Those poor little cubs were just disgusting hunters think nothing one year old. It's utterly disgusting and seeing the picture of him grinning made me feel sick.

There are only 7,000 of these big cats left in the African wild and he thinks nothing of murdering them Paula Wilson, Durham

Only an American loaded with a powerful rifle would boast about kilang three cheetah crais in Africa where these animals are at risk of being wiped out thanks to these

If he thinks he's so brave, let him go into the bush without his rifle and see how long he lasts without a powerful weapon

After all, humans are not on the endangered list yet.

Staring into a black hole

The Tories are to blame for creating the massive financial black hole in the country's economy.

They were aimost certainly aware of what they were doing, safe in the knowledge that they would lose the election and this would be Labour's problem.

If, by some nightmare, they had won another term in office, they would have continued to add to the black hole and we would not have been any wiser Being honest with the electorate, and among themse yes is not in their DNA. Shella Fox, Crawley

GEORGE'S FLYING MISSION

Believing set to bypass Sprint Cup

BY DAVID YATES

BELIEVING, 5-1 favourite with William Hill for next Saturday's Sprint Cup, will swerve Haydock Park for a crack at the Curragh's Flying Five Stakes eight days later.

Fourth in both the King Charles III Stakes and the Queen Elizabeth II Jubilee Stakes at Royal Ascot in June, the George Bougheysaddled daughter of Mehmas came within three-quarters of a length of a first Group I triumph when chasing home Bradsell in the Nunthorpe Stakes at York 10 days ago.

Faced with twin Group 1 options over the next two weekends, Believing, who landed the Group 2 Sapphire Stakes over the Curragh's five furlongs under Ryan Moore (above) in July, will stay at the minimum distance rather than return to six.

"The plan is very much Ireland at this stage," said Harry Herbert, managing director of the four-year-old's owners,

"She's got such speed and she's getting quicker - and that stiff five at the Curragh is absolutely her bag.

there the other day and said that is her ideal track.

"Hopefully he'd be pretty keen to get on her again. She's an extraordinary filly who bounces out of her races, goes into the paddock for a couple of days and to do on Tuesday and then I will have a chat with Cliff and see which way he wants to go," said Burke.

CHANCE Michael Wigham saddles Last Outlaw today

DAILY DOUBLE

LAST OUTLAW looks well treated in the Fuller Smith & Turner Tenants Hendicap (6.00) at Windson today.

The son of Dandy Man didn't make the track for Richard Fahey at two, joining Michael Wigham before promising debut ever six furiongs at Doncaster at the end of June

And Last Outley built on that fifth to Aslmov on Town Moor

when taking on eight rivals for a five: furiona stakes at Leicester at the end of July, getting the better of Sloux Warrior by a head. The British

Horseracing Authority number cruncher has given my selection a mark of 73 as he starts out in the nancicap sphere - and that's an assessment that could prove enienti

The return to six won't be a problem for a horse who has more to offer on the third outing of his career and Sean Kirrane's mount can go in again.

An hour and a half later on Thameside. BETWEENTHE STICKS gets the vote to give his rivals weight and a beating in the Tips For Every Race At raceday ready. com Handicap (7.30).[

Jack Channon's (above) sprinter edged out Recon Mission by nose at Lingfield fi days age, showing a game attitude.

And a 21b nuoge up the weights shouldn't prevent another good account here.

TENNIS US OPEN

BY NEIL McLEMAN

WITH his big smile and poyband looks, Jack Draper has quickly become a massive fan favourite at the US Open.

But the dashing young Englishman in New York has not been not enjoying a rock-and-roll kfestyle on his way back to the fourth round of the US Open.

Instead, Draper is straight back to his Manhattan hotel every night to drink tea and watch TV. He is not exactly Keith Richards.

But there is method in his lack of madness as the 22-yearold's young career has been dogged by fitness issues.

And with a great chance to reach his first Grand Slam quarter-final against world

No.39 Tomas Machac today, the British No.1 is happy to make sacrifices at night so he is ready for the day job.

"I always was someone who liked to enjoy myself and maybe didn't have a working mindset," he said.

"Since last year, I've definitely put my head down a lot more and just focused on becoming a top player. Now it's more important for me to go back and watch movies. I can make a cup of tea in the room and then watch a series or something. I watched Gangs of London recently. Just anything to conserve mental and physical energy.

"It's sometimes a bit of a lonely existence being a top tennis player. You have just got to make many sacrifices."

This Grand Slam is a chance for all the hard work to pay off with Carlos Alcaraz and Novak Diokovic already out.

If he beats Machac, he would face the winner of the Aussie derby between Alex de Minaur + who knocked out Dan Evans - and Jordan Thompson in the last eight. Evans claimed his week at the US Open proved he's "still pretty good at tennis."

The British No.5 arrived in New York on a run of 10 consecutive Tour-level singles defeats stretching back to March. But the Brummie (above) took world No.10 Alex de Minaur to five sets despite a hip injury, "I'm still pretty good, and that's a ruce feeling walking off," Evans said

BY NEIL McLEMAN SERENA WILLIAMS was back at the US Open to cheer former boyfnend Grigor Dimitrov into the fourth round.

The US superstar watched the Bulgarian beat Andrey Rubley 6-3 7-61-63-66-3.

Dimitrov, the oldest man left in the draw at 33. said: "She gave me a good prep talk. It's amazing to play in front of good friends and family."

No.6 seed Rubiev

needed a medical time-out in the first set after banging his racquet on his hand in frustration.

No.12 seed Taylor Fritz caused another upset by beating Casper Ruud 3-6 6-4 6-2 6-2.

"I just had to stay in it because he definitely outplayed me in the first set," said the American, now a 12-1 chance to win a first Grand Slam title.

It's the second year in a row that Fritz has got to the last eight here.

London 20 Leeds 21 Golden Point FT 20-20

A THUNDERSTORM warning was in place in the south of England and Leeds Rhinos' lightning struck twice to leave London Broncos shattered in their final home game of the campaign.

Brodie Croft banged over a goiden-point drop goal with 66 seconds remaining in extra-time (circle) after London's Oli Leyland hit a post with a late conversion attempt and Jack Campagnolo struck the crossbar in sudden-death.

The late drama overshadowed a stunning performance from Rhyse Martin, who passed 1,000 points for Rhinos with a hat-trick of tries, three conversions and a penalty.

The win keeps Rhinos in the top-six hunt, but boss Brad Arthur admitted.
"London didn't deserve to

"They were the better team, we had a bit of luck "we got what we came for, but we're not happy Broncos went into the break just two points in arrears at 12-14 and with five minutes remaining it was all square.

"I'm really proud of them," Broncos coach Mike Eccles said. "It was a brilliant effort from them."

Saints cash in on Fenton's card

Huddersfield 10 St Helens 18

BY NEIL SQUIRES

ST HELENS cashed in on a controversial first-half red card for Huddersfield prop Fenton Rogers to move into fourth in Super League.

The 21-year-old academy product (below) was sent off 38 seconds before the break by referee Aaron Moore for a high hit on Tee Ritson with Saints trailing 10-6.

But with the extra man, they came through with 12 unanswered second-half points at the John Smith's Stadium to record their 11th consecutive victory over the Giants.

Huddersfield's interim head coach Luke Robinson said:
The players and the people around me thought it was a really harsh decision, the analyst upstairs thought it was a vellow

"But this is the way rugby league is going. It's the former players and their lawsuits who are influencing the game.

The refs can only ref heartbroken. He's big, aggressive but unfortunately you have to be a little bit more conservative in your approach now.

"You make contact now and it's a flick of a coin whether you're sent off or sin burned."

The scruffy win gives Saints a useful buffer in the play off race with tough away games at Warrington and Leigh to come for the run-in. Saints head coach Paul Wellens acknowledged he was "surprised" the card was not a yellow – but he was relieved his side made the most of the break.

He said: "It was very hard work but we've probably suffered a bit of an identity crisis over the past few weeks and what we did was reconnect with our identity. Part of that is winning games that are tight and are tough."

Jonny Lomax gave Saints a ninthminute lead, but the Giants were level through Eliot Wallis, who went over from a neat Tui Lolohea pass. And five minutes later they had the lead when Jake Bibby went over after full-back Harry Robertson had spilled a high ball.

However, the visitors regained the lead 10 minutes into the second half through makeshift centre Sione Mata'uita and were never behind again, Robertson, with his first try for St Helens, stretched the lead and even with Noah Stephens sin binned, Wellens' men saw the game out.

"We knew we had our work cut out, but the adrenaline was there," Ball said.

HANNAH IS SO FOUR-MIDABLE

HURRICANE Hannah Cockroft blew her rivals clean away once again to scorch to a record fourth straight Paralympic wheelchair sprint title.

Cockroft dominated the T38 100m to leave British team-mate Kare Adenegan trailing in her slipstream by nearly a second as she clocked a time of 16.30.

This was her eighth gold medal across four races and she will start favourite for the 800m later this week.

Cockroft (above) said: "I'm making my life well hard doing this.

NORGAARD: A 'dream win'

Norgaard claims 1st Tour title

NIKLAS NORGAARD said he was so nervous that he almost threw up his breakfast before claiming his first DP World Tour title in the British Masters.

The Dane carded a closing 72 to finish 16 under par, two shots clear of South Africa's Thriston Lawrence, after a nerveracking final round at The Belfry.

"I've been dreaming of this since I was 10 years oid," Norgaard said.

"I've had kind of a long career, just moving slowly ahead and every year getting a little bit better

"I've never won on the Challenge Tour, nothing like that, so to win here for a first win I feel very good.

"I was trying not to think about it but this morning I almost threw up at breakfast, I was so nervous."

Compatriot Rasmus Hojgaard charged through the field with a closing 65 to finish third on 12 under, with France's Jeong-weon Ko another stroke back after a costly double-bogey six on the 18th.

"We've played some really good cricket,"

OARY FITZGERALD GUS ATKINSON was on fire at Lord's again as England's new golden all-rounder helped wrap up a stunning series victory over Sri Lanka.

The 26-year-old bridged a 40-year gap to join an elite club of England players to score a century and take a five-fer in the same Test

Only Tony Greig and Sir Ian Botham (five times) managed that feat. The last time was Beefy against New Zealand in 1984

He put the finishing touches to a 190-run victory in the Second Test with 5-62 to bowl the tourists out for 292.

And in doing so he stole the Player of the Match award from Joe Root, who had scored backto-back centuries

Atkinson said: "We just like to attack and as a bowler that's great not to worry about conceding too many runs.

Tive enjoyed it so much and may long it continue"

While Root is having the time of his life with the bat. Atkinson is doing so with bat and ball. He has now amassed 33 wickets in just five Tests

Having burst on to the scene with an incredible 12-wicket haul against the West Indies, he has not looked back.

It was just a real pity there was such a paitry fourth day Lord's crowd to see his heroics, and the decision to price adult tickets at £95 certainly did not help

England's players merely had to go through the motions as the tourists failed to rise to the challenge of reaching their target of 483

Str Lanka resumed on 53-2 but were never in with a chance of stopping England from taking a 2-0 series lead

Dimuth Karunaratne's luck ran out when he gloved a catch off Olly Stone into the grateful hands of Jamie Smith

Angelo Mathews and Dinesh Chandimal built a decent partnership until spinner Shoaib Bashir struck. He had Mathews caught by Chris Woakes for 36

Atkinson lured Chandimal to gifting Dan Lawrence a catch close in and followed up with the wicket of the in-form Kamindu Mendis, which was snapped up by Ben Duckett

Dhananjaya de Silva had no answer to Atkinson's pace and skill, and he then removed Milan Rathnayake - slashing outside the off-stump to Smith behind.

Woakes wrapped up the win when Lahiru Kumara holed out and Sri Lanka were dismissed for 292. Now England will hope to make it a 3-0 whitewash in the final Test which starts at The Oval on Friday.

Ferrari win as Lando wastes great chance to close gap on Verstappen

2. DVIMET VERIEN

FERRARI fans screamed and stamped their feet in delight as Charles Leclerc pulled off a famous victory.

Lando Norris started on pole and had the chance to take a significant chunk out of Max Verstappen's advantage in the championship standings.

But he lost out to Oscar Plastri on the first lap in Monza and spent the rest of team-mate's gearbox.

WARNOCK TRIBUTE TO BAMBA

BY DARREN WELLS

NEIL WARNOCK paid tribute to "ray of sunshine" Soi Bamba following his former captain's tragic death. aged 39 on Saturday.

Bamba helped Cardiff City earn promotion to the Premier League under Warnock and made more than 100 appearances for the Bluebirds during a memorable spell.

The former centre-back (above) was diagnosed with Non-Hodgkin lymphoma in January 2021 but announced he was cancer-free four months later.

Tributes have poured in since Turkish club Adanaspor, for whom Bamba was head coach, announced his death after he fell ill on Friday.

Warnock (right) said he was "heartbroken" for Bamba's family, writing on X: "I can't be leve I won't see that beaming smile again, I'm so happy that Sol was part of my life and we had such brilliant memories together 'Sol was a ray of sunshine and I'll miss him so much."

Cardiff posted their own tribute, reflecting on Bamba's

'immeasurable" impact on the club and said: "He was a hero to all of us. a leader in every dressing room and a true gentleman."

The Ivory Coast international also featured for Leicester City, Leeds United and Middlesbrough among a host of top clubs.

Leeds wrote: "Rest in peace, 50x, you will be forever in our hearts."

His former boss at Eliand Road. Steve Evans, said: "He was a warrior for me in my time as head coach... see you at the far post big man."

Ex-Soccer Saturday presenter Jeff Steiling described Bamba as "one of the nicest men I have ever met" who "never had a smile far from his face"

Bamba is survived by his wife Chioe and children Roonea, Lily and Arny, ANGE POSTECOGLOU revealed defeat was a bitter pill to swallow after his Tottenham side failed to "kill off" Newcastle.

The coach was left "sore" after Spurs "ran over the top" of the Magpies at St James' Park but ended up with nothing.

Postecoglou (right) said: "We controlled it and nullified their threat and got ascendancy and needed to kill it off. We didn't. It was a disappointing second goal but the game should have been over by then.

"It is another sore one. Our results don't reflect three strong performances.

"I felt we would run over the top of them, second half getting the ball to our wide players.

"It worked out that way but we didn't finish it off. "We had the chances to win the game probably comfortably but we walk away with nothing so it's a bitter pill to swallow."

Newcastle

manager Eddie Howe said the win creates momentum following a challenging transfer window.

Howe (below) said: "It was a tough game, we came under pressure. It was a great response to > find a way to win, especially not at your best. "Longer term we need to improve.

> > "It is massive when you need to win, but when there are difficult moments and the transfer window was tough for us, it allows us to move forward with positive momentum.

"The windows are shut and it gives us stability and we can focus on the prtch and the players. This gives us confidence, shows us as a very good team.

> "There is team spirit and togetherness but we have some work to do on fitness. "It was a challenging window. That is the same for everyone. "We all want to improve the squad but not spending the sums expected,"

No wonder United subbed Casemiro at the break. United signed Manuel Ugarte late on MANCHESTER UNITED fans were given a taste of things to come before kick-off against Liverpool.

Manuel Ugarte (below), their new ESOmiltion signing from Paris Saint-Germain, was introduced to the home. fans on the Old Trafford pitch and given a rapturous weicome

And after 45 minutes of watching Casemire torl and single-handedly gift Liverpool two goals, Ugarte's debut cannot come soon enough for United, their lans and boss Erik ten Hag

Put simply, Casemiro was a liability throughout the first half, conceding possession cheaply and underlining just why United should have cashed in onthe 32-year-old Brazilian in the summer

Having watched Casemiro effectively hand three points to United's arch-rivals, Ten Hag had seen enough and hauled him off at the break. replacing him with 20-year-old Toby Collyer

Yet Casemiro should not have been anywhere near the United starting line-up this season and would not have been, had the pursuit of Ugarte not gone all the way down to transfer

Ugarte will soon be on the Case deadline day. That meant United missed the deadline for registering Ugarte in time to face Liverpool, but given his last action was for Uruguay in the Copa America in July, he would not have been ready to play

Yet it was evident last season, when his form feloff a cliff and made his impressive first campaign for United feel like a trick of the mind, that United had to offload Casemiro.

Yet he stayed, with Scott McTominay joining Napoli for £25.7m, chiefly because that fee counts as pure

Toney to bag £84M in Saudi

EXCLUSIVE BY DARREN LEWIS

IVAN TONEY will pick up a staggering deal worth £84million to move to Saudi Pro League's Al-Ahli.

The England striker (top), 28, has signed a four-year contract worth £403,000 a week including bonuses ~ the equivalent of £800,000 a week before tax in the UK to complete his £40m switch from Brentford

It means Toney will earn more than 13 times the £36,000-a-week wage he picked up at the GTech Stadium where he scored 20 goals in 33 Premier League games for the Bees during the 2022-23 season

Last season he scored four times in his first five. matches following his return from an eight-month ban for breaking FA gambling rules.

In total he netted 72 goals in 141 games since joining Brentford in 2020.

He moved to Saudi Arabia after Brentford refused to lower their £50m price tag, their tough stance scaring off the Premier League's top clubs who were unwilling to overpay for a player out of contract in a year

At Al-Ahii, Toney will join a squad containing serial Premier League title winner Riyad Mahrez, formerly of Manchester City, ex-Chelsea Champions League-winning keeper Edouard Mendy, and striker Roberto Firmino who lifted two Champions Leagues with Liverpool

Toney was part of the England squad at Euro 2024, with his three appearances - including the defeat by Spain in the final - ali as a late substitute

He scored a penalty in the shootout victory over Switzerland, when he found the net without looking at the ball as he stared down the keeper

Toney has six caps and one goal for the Three Lions - and although he was left out of interim England manager Lee Carsley's squad for this month's Nations League games, Toney has not given up on playing for England again.

CHELSEA CRYSTAL PALACE

FAUL ENGWN EBERECHI made it look Eze to ruin Cole Palmer's Chelsea anniversary.

It was exactly a year since Palmer joined the Blues from Manchester City in a £42.5 million transfer

And he looked ready to celebrate when he set up Nicolas Jacksons opener with his 15th Premier League assist since that day

Nobody else across all of Europe's big five leagues has managed so many in that time

And Palmer also equalled a Chelsea record for most assists in the first three games of a top-flight campaign with his fourth of the season

But Eagles forward Eze caught fire after half-time and it was Chelsea who got burned as he bagged an equaliser and a well-deserved share of the points.

Chelsea unveiled Jadon Sancho before kick-off, but neither he not Crystal Palace new boy Trevoh Chalobah were eligible for this

The Blues were as busy in the transfer window as the London Underground was vesterday, with closures meaning packed trains.

And Enzo Maresca's men were just as busy on the pitch at Stamford Bridge too as they looked to build on their 6-2 thrashing of Wolves

The Eagles dominated West Ham at Selhurst in their previous fixture only to miss all their chances and lose

But they struggled to beat a relentless Chelsea press at the start of this tackles. Palmer signalled their intent by whistling a dipping, curling effort from Dean Henderson diving

Adam Wharton answered at the other claimed by Robert Sanchez point-blank range with a brilliant reaction save, tipping his volley over the bar

But Madueke would not be denied Still high on confidence after his hat-trick at Wolves, he was instrumental in Chelseas opener

Skinning Will Hughes on a fast break he scampered down the right, fed Paimer, and Jackson was there for the tap-in when the cross came in (below).

Sancho, by that point sitting up in the stand with co-owner Behdad Eghbali enjoyed it immensely and so did the home crowd.

Palmer tested Henderson after the break, winning and then firing in a free-kick from 25 yards which the Palace keeper tupped over.

And Henderson then tipped away Levi Colwill's goal-bound header from game as the home side snapped into the resulting corner as Chelsea pressed for a second. So it was against the run of play when Palace snatched an equaliser the edge of the box narrowly wide with trom a well worked free kick routine that Chelsea could only halt clear

Wharton weaved his way back into end but his shot was comfortably the box before teeing up Check Doucoure for a shot which deflected to Nom Madueke should have broken 1 ze in space. The England man (celebrating with Doucoure, left) curled one around Sanchez and in

EVERTON BOURNEMOUTH

BY MARK JONES

ANDONI IRAOLA made a beeline for Sean Dyche at full-time, later admitting he'd told him Everton had been the better team.

But there were two Toffees on show here.

The one Bournemouth boss Iraola was referring to had dominated for 80 minutes, registering 17 shots and flying into a two-goal lead by the hour when they could have had four.

And then there was the Everton who couldn't get out of their own half in the final 10 minutes plus stoppage time Panned back by fear, exhaustion and fearless substitutions from Iraola, they crumbled.

No team in Premier 340 | TOTAL PASSES | 392 League history had ever led by two goals as late as the 87th minute and somehow lost.

But Antoine Semenyo's finish from a cross from Dango Ouattara, one of lraola's brilliant changes, spread such panic among the hosts that Bournemouth could have won by more.

Win your tackles, win your headers, win your races and you win the game, growled an exasperated Dyche after what he admitted was the most frustrating result of his career.

Part of learning is when you can smell it on the pitch. Were still playing one-twos and going for overlaps. You 4-3 in March don't need to."

The Goodison crowd had been enjoying those one-twos and overlaps on an afternoon in which the initial tension had been blown away by Everton's start.

Dominic Calvert-Lewin headed just Harrison went close before Cherries debutant Kepa Arrızabalaga saved well from the lively Iliman Ndiaye.

In ex-Sheffield United star Ndiaye and mudfielder Tim Iroegbunam, signed from Aston Villa, there are signs that Dyche has done a good job in the summer window amid obvious financial constraints.

Both were heavily involved in the heady seven-minute period when the hosts raced into the two-goal lead their play deserved

Calvert-Lewin, fit and revitalised after another summer of being linked away, chested down for Michael Keane to spear home

Soon afterwards the forward latched onto Dwight McNeil's pass to clip over Kepa for an excellent second, a fitting moment on a day when Kevin Campbell - another fine player to wear that Everton No.9 shirt - was remembered

Seamus Coleman somehow didn't score in between the two goals, before Ndraye went close twice and James Tarkowski hit a post.

Then came the turnaround

Iraola had made all five of his substitutions before Dyche had

The Whites boss (below) heads into the rest of the season with a new-look squad after a busy transfer window.

And he says it will take time for his players to gel and get up to speed with the demands of the Championship.

The German said. "What we have is definitely a really good group, a good basement group and an exciting group.

'And right now it's up to me to work with them in order to get the best out of this group.

Traore scored, as had Salah on the opening day for Liverpool, while Haaland bagged a hat trick for Manchester City in between Easy? Hardly, But being surrounded by superstars two seasons after playing in the third tier has left Woolfenden no option but to be on full alert for 90 minutes.

He said: "It's a bit surreal. We got promoted so quickly, back to back, and it's almost a 'pinch yourself moment' every time you go out there, it's what you dream of as a kid

I'm really emoying it. In a way it is easier at the back now because we are spending a lot of the game defending and you have to be switched on all the

In some ways it is easier but obviously the quality is higher"

The quality was certainly high when Liam Delap smashed home a 15thminute opener

"When he hits it, it stays hit." Iwobi 6 (Wilson 86): Muniz 6 (Jimenez 79).

Woolfenden added. "I have never seen a kid hit the ball that hard."

fraore hit back in the 31st minute first time after Antonee Robinson's delivery from the left had evaded Muniz and the whole lpswich defence

That quietened a crowd that had provided raucous support from the off - but not for long.

A packed Portman Road offered noisy backing when Kieran McKennas side needed it most and it was Town that finished the stronger

> Sub Jack Clarke, the new recruit from Sunder land, curled wide before Bernd Leno denied Omari Hutchinson in stoppage time.

> Fan power is going to be crucial if the Tractor Boys can stay up and no one knows that more than local lad Woolfenden, who joined Town as an 11 year old

He said: "The fans, it is so good they are with us the whole way.

"They are recognising what we have done and how far we have come. The only way we are going to succeed in this league is if everyone is together No matter what

NOTTINGHAM FOREST WOLVES

IT CRAHAM THOMAS

NECO WILLIAMS always believed it was a matter of when and not if Morgan Gibbs-White would get the call from England.

Now, Wales regular Williams reckons his Nottingham Forest team-mate can put form and consistency on the table to trump England selection rivals with bigger reputations.

Williams was 19 when he made his international debut four years ago, but Gibbs-White, 24, has had to be more patient.

He may have long been the hub around which Forest turn - and was again against Wolves - but it needed the wheel to turn from Gareth Southgate to caretaker Lee Carsley for his senior call-up.

"I'm surprised it's taken this long," said Williams of Gibbs-White's inclusion in the squad for the Nations League openers.

"He's been our best player since he's joined the club.

"He is so important for us. He creates stuff. he gets goals and assists, so it was only a matter of time before he got the call"

There will be tough competition for an England starting place, with Gibbs-White up against the likes of Cole Palmer, Phil Foden and new boy Angel Gomes.

But Williams added: "At the moment its going on how you are doing for your club That's what it seems players are being picked on now - not just from their names.

"Morgan is consistent and he's getting goals and assists.

Yes, it will be hard to shift them, but hopefully he can put a good stamp on it when he gets there.

Gibbs-White's popularity within the Forest squad can be gauged by the players' reaction to his Three Lions stamp of approval

"We have televisions in the changing rooms at training and when we saw it everyone was just screaming and shouting," added Williams.

It was a good moment and we were all so happy for him. I know Morgs has been aiming for this call-up for a long time now

"We're all buzzing for him."

Gibbs-White used to strut his stuff for Wolves, who have never quite replaced his energy, if not his creative flair

They struggled to quell his influence at times, although this was a match which ner ther side seconed able to grip completely

It yeared from dim to dazzling and back again, but Wolves seemed happier with their first point of the season than Forest did with their fifth

For former Liverpool wing-back Williams. Forest's unbeaten start to the campaign reflects a more front-foot, assertive approach

"We are at the stage now where we are disappointed to only get a point

"Our aim now is to go into games hoping to get three points."

Chas Wood headed Forest in front, but the lead was given up quickly when Jean-Richer Bellegarde struck a swerving stunner

Wood had a late effort ruled out for offside. while he might have given away a penalty when the ball struck his arm in his own box.

Liliot Anderson's arrival from Newcastle means not everything has to revolve around Gibbs White, a sharing of that strain Forest will be relieved by if England duties drain some of their talismans reserves.

NOTTINGHAM FOREST (4-2-3-1): Sets 7, Williams 7, Milenkovic 7 Murillo 6, Aina 6, Sangare 6 (Yates 58, 6). Anderson 7 (Awoniyi 90); Elanga 6 (Jota 90), Gibbs: White 7, Hudson-Odoi 6 (Sosa 80); Wood 7 he is happy to share Wolves' goalkeeping duties with Jose Sa - although Arab cash may yet spoil that arrangement.

Johnstone (inset) made his debut after his £10m move from Crystal Palace and proved his worth with a brilliant save to deny Chris Wood a winner.

He would be content to fight it out with Sa for the No.1 spot but several Saudi Pro League clubs are keen.

to tempt the Portuguese with a gold-plated move. "It's a good goalie group," said Johnstone, 33.

"They all welcomed me into the group and we're all going to compete to play. "That's healthy. You need competition and we'll take it from there.

"We have to get along and train with each other every day and work it out."

Johnstone, who won the last of his four England caps three years ago, had one of the best seats in the house. for Wolves' first goal from outside the box for 47 matches from Jean-Richer Beliegarde.

He added: "It was a great strike. I was right behind it and it moved quite a bit."

PARKY'S BOYS HAVE THE WREX FACTOR

WREXHAM boss Phi Parkinson is confident his "outstanding" side can hold their own in League One after a 2.0 victory at PETERBOROUGH moved them level on points with leaders STOCKPORT

Jack Marriott scored against his old club to put the promoted Welsh side in front (above) before a header from Max Cleworth doubled their lead

We have to show we are serious contenders at this level," said Parkinson.

' We knew what we had to do against a very good. Peterborough side and the shape of the team out of possession was outstanding Stockport saw their 100 per cent record ended with a 1-1 draw at MANSFIELD, where Kyle Wootton's header cancelled out Hiram Boateng's opener for the Stags.

Stockport boss Dave Chadinor (inset) said: "It was a pretty even game, so we will happily take a point and move on."

B RMINGHAM also have 10 points after Scott Wright's stoppage-time goal snatched a 2-1 home win over WIGAN.

"We are never going to have easy games. They are all going to be hard," said Blues boss Chris Davies.

HUDDERSFIELD'S 100 per cent start was brought to a halt with a 2-1 defeat at ROTHERHAM

The Millers - also relegated last season came from behind with a stoppage-time goal from Mallik Wilks (right) after Huddersfield substitute Danny Ward had been sent

Terriers boss Michael Duff was shown a red card after the final whistle, while

SHEFF UTD

BY ROSS HEPPENSTALL TURBULENT barely begins to describe Sheffield United's summer, but a bizarre firsthalf winner maintained their unbeaten start and wrecked Watford's winning run.

The Blades were relegated in pitiful fashion last season, sparking a mass exodus and a huge raft of new arrivals.

The second half grew increasingly tense and tensions boiled over on more than one occasion - including an ugly melee at the final whistle

Blades boss Wilder added: "It isn't about stepping over the line, but we're here and we're ready to fight."

Cleverley agreed, adding: It was an entertaining game that probably boiled over a bit but nothing that was too much

BLACKBURN

BY LINDSAY SUTTON ANDI WEIMANN couldn't stop grinning after his wonder goal for Blackburn - saying: "I think it was one over the bar of the best in my career."

The Austrian international, 33, admitted that a header by team mate Makhtar Gueye "bounced perfectly in front of me and [77]

His powerful and beautifully-placed votey bulleted into the far top corner of the Burnley goal, giving lames Trafford no chance

that's why I just hit it"

And to prove it wasn't a fluke. Weimann, who signed for Rovers this summer on a free from Bristol City, had sent out a warning of his deadly long-range capability just 30 seconds into the game.

Moor for this derby showdown watched in awe at his early effort.

From a miskicked clearance by Trafford, Weimann shot from distance with the keeper well off his goal line. Fortunately for Burnley, the ball zipped just Weimann, who played for Aston Valla, Watford, Wolves and Derby before his long spen at Ashton Gate, added, "I was just

The 21,000 crammed into Turf stretching too far to get total the ref after Burnley's Maxime accuracy.

> my best chance came later His super strike rubbed out

Jaidon Anthony, on loan from Bournemouth, was fed by a superb back heeled pass from away with a point" losh Brownhal who then delay ered a precision cross that was headed home powerfuln by South Africa striker Lyle Foster (celebrating inset)

> The Carcts then bossed much of the play antil Weimann shook the loundations with his super strike

> Even so, it looked as though Burnley would go on to win when Rovers went down to 10 men with 33 minutes to go

Senegalese born striker Gueve was given a second vellow and sent off for his intimidating gesture to against Leeds."

Esteve had physically wrestled "I really wanted to score, but him off the ball.

Gueve's boss John Fustace had to back the decision by Tony Harrington, adding Makhtar has got to learn the rides.

"But we stuck together and that's what I want. We came

Burniev boss Scott Parker is just glad the transfer window has shut after it caused tension and "challenges", with no fewer than 20 players leaving this summer

Of his newcomers losh Laurent, signed from Stoke and Anthony snone throughout, with the former saying. This is one of the happiest times in my life

The gaffer showed he trusted me and I want to repay him."

Anthony added: "We knew it would be intense, a big battle, so we worked our socks off.

"We will train during the international break and after that we'd be ready for our game

BRENDAN RODGERS praised CELTIC'S mentality after his side beat RANGERS 3-0 to open up a five-point gap between the Old Firm rivals.

Daizen Maeda and Kyogo Furuhashi gave Rodgers' team a two-goal half-time lead before Callum McGregor wrapped up the win after the break.

One-pan pini pini chicken dinner

Iry this one-pan piri piri chicken for a family dinner and adjust the chilli levels to suit your family's tolerance. You can use a whole chicken instead, if you like tkg bone-in chicken thighs and drumsticks (equal quantities of each saves any arguments

500g baby potatoes, thickly sliced 2 peppers (1 red, 1 yellow), thickly sliced

200g cherry tomatoes Handful of coriander leaves, chopped Buttered corn on the cob, to serve

FOR THE MARINADE

11/2 tsp smoked paprika 25g light brown soft sugar 1 lime, zested and juiced

1tsp dried chilli flakes (use less if you prefer less heat) 2 garlic cloves, chopped

4tbsp olive oil

1/2 bunch of fresh oregano, leaves picked or 1tbsp dried oregano 1 red chilli (optional), deseeded and chopped

1tbsp red wine or port (optional)

Pound all the marinade ingredients together with itsp salt using a large pestle and mortar, or blitz in a minichopper to create a loose paste, Slash each chicken piece a few times, then tip into a bowl and coat in the marinade. Cover and chill for at least one hour or up to 24 hours.

Heat the oven to ∠ 220C/200C fan/ gas 7. Tip the chicken along with the marinade and potatoes into a roasting tin. Toss together, then arrange chicken on top of the potatoes, thighs skin-side up. Roast for 35-40 minutes until the chicken has browned.

Remove the tin from the oven and mix the peppers in with the potatoes, baste the chicken in some of the juices in the tin and turn the drumsticks. Nestle the cherry tomatoes in among the chicken and roast for another 20-25 minutes until the chicken is cooked through, the skin is crisp and the vegetables are nicely roasted. Scatter with the corrander and some flaky sea salt, if you like, and serve straight from the tin with the buttered corn on the side.

QUOTE DOWN

Drop the letters in each column to reconstruct a quote by Tom Lehrer. Words may be split across two lines.

LOGIC

Can you match each of the volcanoes to its height, location and eruption date?

Juanita has been assigned a project for her geography coursework. She needs to analyse data relating to five volcanoes across the globe. She is comparing the data sets to determine if there is a connection between the height, location and last eruption date.

Mount Ignis was the most recent of the five to erupt, and is shorter than both of the Asian volcanoes.

The Icelandic volcano last erupted ten years after the volcano that has a height of 1800 metres.

Mount St Hildas, which is located in Indonesia, is 500 metres shorter than the volcano that last erupted in 1934.

Mount Hephaestus is higher than the mountain located in the Philippines.

The New Zealand volcano

Juanita is studying is either Mount Baji or the volcano that last erupted in 1895.

The volcano that last erupted in 1944 is not the tallest of the five, nor is it Mount Ettie.

From the descriptions of the volcanoes, can you help Juanita finish her project by matching each volcano to its data?

VISUALISATION

TRIANGLE

Draw 2 straight lines to make 6 triangles. Lines must be drawn from dot to dot, either passing through one dot or none at all, Triangles must not contain lines running through them, and every line segment must form part of a triangle.

SHAPES

How many rectangles are there in the illustration below?

SYMMETRY

Shade in eight of the blank squares so that the pattern shows reflectional symmetry along one of the four axes shown.

SEKI

Using the blank grid, rotate some of the circles shown in the start grid and then shade in the corresponding squares (as shown right), so that shaded squares contain only black quarter-circles.

REASONING

In the face-painting contest, first place sported the tiger, and the child with the shark placed above Jeff. Josh didn't sport the lion, and neither Jenny nor James sported the shark. Josh didn't come second, and the butterfly was worn by a boy but not by Jeff. What did each child wear and where did they place?

2 The bowling alley have given everyone the wrong shoes. 'I've got sandals which are too big for me', said Sam. 'I've been given size 8 shoes, which aren't the trainers', said Sue. 'I've got Sue's shoes', said Sky. 'I've not been given the size 6 or 9 shoes, I have shoes one size smaller than my own', said Sara. If Sky wasn't given the boots, and the pumps are size 7, which shoes belong to each friend?

EVENS

Insert any digit from 1 to 9 in the squares, so that the numbers in each row and column add up to the given totals. No digits may be repeated within a row or column, and even numbers must be placed in shaded squares.

DANGO

Draw lines between the dots to create four shapes in the grid. No shape may touch another and you must use all the dots. When a line reaches a dot, it turns as shown:

LOOP

Draw a continuous loop in the grid so that the number in each circle corresponds to the number of adjacent squares containing turns in the loop. Part of the loop has been drawn to get you started.

MISSING WORDS

Cover the group of words on the right, then study the group on the left for two minutes. Then cover the group on the left and show the group on the right. Which words are missing?
